A COMPANION TO CHIMAMANDA NGOZI ADICHIE

Edited by ERNEST N. EMENYONU

Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie has bridged gaps and introduced new motifs and narrative styles which have energized contemporary African fiction since her first novel, Purple Hibiscus (2003). With Half of a Yellow Sun (2007) and The Thing Around Your Neck – Short Stories (2009), she established herself as a preeminent storyteller. Americanah (2013) fuses ingenious craftsmanship with extravagant and versatile narrative innovations. She has made herself relevant to people of all ages – across racial and linguistic boundaries. Her talks, blogs, musings on social media, essays and commentaries, workshop-mentoring for budding young writers, lecture circuit discourses, all enrich her imaginative creativity as they expand and define her mission as a writer. “We Should All be Feminists” she proclaimed in an essay, giving feminism a “tweak and twist” and suggesting new outlooks in literary theory.

A COMPANION TO MIA COUTO

Edited by GRANT HAMILTON
& DAVID HUDDART

A major voice in World literature, Couto was shortlisted for the Man Booker International Prize in 2015. This book brings together key scholars of his work who examine Couto's contemporary writing as a novelist, short story writer, poet, and essayist. There are contributions on his work in ecology, theatre and journalism, and Mozambican nationalist politics. They also engage with the significance of Couto's writing to contemporary discussions of African and World literature.

WRITING THE NIGERIA-BIAFRA WAR

Edited by TOYIN FALOLA
& OGECHUKWU EZEKWE

This volume discusses the trends and methodologies in fictional and non-fictional writings on the Nigeria-Biafra war. It is the first to analyse in detail the intellectual and historical circumstances that helped to shape these often contentious civil war texts. The contributors examine writers' and protagonists' use of contemporary published texts as a means of continued resistance and justification of the war, the problems of objectivity encountered in memoirs and how authors' backgrounds and sources determine the kinds of biases that influenced their interpretations, including the gendered divisions in Nigeria-Biafra War scholarship. By initiating a dialogue on the civil war literature, this volume engages a much-needed discourse on the problems confronting a culturally diverse post-war Nigeria.

A DEATH RETOLD IN TRUTH AND RUMOUR

Kenya, Britain and the Julie Ward Murder

GRACE A. MUSILA

Building on existing scholarship on African history, narrative, gender and postcolonial studies, the author reveals how the Julie Ward murder and its attendant discourses offer insights into the journeys of ideas, and how these traverse the porous boundaries of the relationship between Kenya and Britain, and, by extension, Africa and the Global North.

This is a smart book...in its interconnectivity, in its insights, and in the voracious mind behind it.

...should be assigned to upper-level classes in African studies and cultural studies. AFRICAN STUDIES REVIEW
