READING HORACE'S LYRIC

A Late Tenth-Century Annotated Manuscript from Bavaria (British Library, Harley 2724)

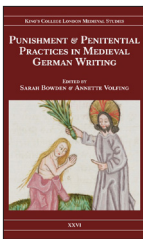

PAULINA TARASKIN

Horace was a cornerstone of the medieval academic curriculum and a major inspiration for poets writing in Latin and European vernaculars. This is the first detailed analysis of the scholia on Horace's lyric verse in British Library Harley 2724.

PUNISHMENT AND PENITENTIAL PRACTICES IN MEDIEVAL GERMAN WRITING

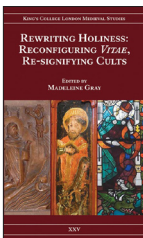

Edited by SARAH BOWDEN & ANNETTE VOLPING

The supposed brutality of medieval punishment looms large in popular contemporary imagination, yet this perception can obscure the diverse and nuanced reactions of medieval society to violent or criminal acts. This collection addresses how punishment is depicted and discussed in written texts, focusing on its intersection with penitential practices.
