ASSIGNMENT OF COPYRIGHT

[Author’s Name and address]

The Dominican Fathers, Province of Saint Joseph, in its journal The Thomist, is pleased to publish your article presently entitled “[Title of article].”

So that you as author and we as officers of the corporation and editors of the journal may be protected from the consequences of unauthorized use of its contents, we consider it essential to secure a copyright. We ask you to grant us all rights to your article, including subsidiary rights and all other rights of any nature whatsoever whether now known or hereafter devised as well as any renewal, extension, or reversion of copyright now or hereafter provided in any country and all claims for infringement appurtenant thereto. However, you retain the right to use your article as published in this journal or in a revised form, without any charge to you, in any work of your choosing, after it has appeared in this journal. The following are the terms of publication.

1. Whereas the corporation is undertaking to publish the article named above, of which the undersigned is the author, the author grants and assigns exclusively to the corporation for its use any and all rights of whatsoever kind or nature now or hereafter protected by the copyright laws of the United States and all foreign countries in all languages in and to the above named article, including all subsidiary rights. The author warrants that his/her contribution is original and that he/she has full power to make this grant.

2. The author guarantees that the article furnished for the periodical contains no matter libelous or otherwise unlawful or which invades individual privacy or which infringes any proprietary right. The corporation, in turn, grants to the author the right of republication of the article, either as originally published in The Thomist or in a revised form, without any charge to him/her, in any work of his/her choosing, after it has appeared in this journal, subject to the express condition that such republication bear the same copyright notice as appeared in the original publication of the article by the corporation in a location which gives reasonable notice of such claim of copyright. It is understood that the author will receive no royalty or other monetary compensation from the corporation for the use of his/her material. The corporation will publish the article at its own cost and expense.

3. The author guarantees that the article furnished for this journal has not been published previously elsewhere.

Please sign and date this agreement, and return one copy to the editor of The Thomist.

____________________________________________    __________________________
Author’s signature                                                             Date