Architect of Air Power

General Laurence S. Kuter and the Birth of the US Air Force

Brian D. Laslie

"Laslie's outstanding work on Laurence Kuter is the first full and highly effective look at this exceptionally important airman. It gives the reader ample evidence of Kuter's central role in making America the quintessential airpower nation during the course of the twentieth century. This will be the book on Kuter for many years to come."—Robert S. Ehlers Jr., author of The Mediterranean Air War: Airpower and Allied Victory in World War II

The Myth and Reality of German Warfare

Operational Thinking from Moltke the Elder to Heusinger

Gerhard P. Gross
Edited by Major General
David T. Zabecki, USA (Ret.)

"[Gross's] new operational history is more than bugles and drums: it is imbedded firmly in German diplomatic, economic, political, and social history. It is a continuous line of evolution. It painstakingly differentiates among tactics, operations and strategy. It is brilliant."—Holger H. Herwig, author of The First World War

BOOK SERIES WITH THE ASSOCIATION OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY

AMERICAN WARRIORS | AUSA BOOKS | BATTLES & CAMPAIGNS | FOREIGN MILITARY STUDIES

In conjunction with the Association of the United States Army, the University Press of Kentucky presents four book series: The American Warriors Series includes biographies and autobiographies of the lives, service, and accomplishments of American military leaders. Battles and Campaigns features military land power and land warfare history, combat, strategy and tactics, and general defense issues as they relate to important battles and campaigns throughout history. The Foreign Military Studies Series highlights original works, translations, and reprints of classics outside the American canon that promote a deeper understanding of international military theory and practice. AUSA Books includes titles that investigate broader topics on war and the military, its impact on society and American culture, and other topics outside the purview of the prior three series.

CALL FOR MANUSCRIPTS AVIATION AND AIR POWER

Series Editor: Brian D. Laslie

Aviation and Air Power solicits projects taking a broad-based look at aerial battles, air warfare, and campaigns from the First World War through modern air operations, as well as works on the heritage, technology, and culture particular to the air arm. Biographies of leading figures are welcomed. This series seeks to not only cover the American Air Force, Army, and Naval aviation, but also other world powers and their approaches to the history and study of the air arm.

Brian D. Laslie is Deputy Command Historian at NORAD and US Northern Command as well as an adjunct professor at the US Air Force Academy. He is author of The Air Force Way of War: US Tactics and Training after Vietnam and Architect of Air Power: General Laurence S. Kuter and the Birth of the US Air Force.
