Lamenting Racism
A Christian Response to Racial Injustice
Rob Muthiah with Abigail Gaines, Dave Johnson, Tamala Kelly, Brian Lugioyo, Anthony Powell, John Ragsdale, Jessica Wai-Fong Wong

Racism feeds on denial. Lament moves us to tell the truth. And the truth can set us free.

Stories of racial injustice fill our news feeds. Yet for too long many in the church have been hesitant to speak up about racism in its many forms. We fear offending others, using the wrong words, not knowing what to say.

In Lamenting Racism, a team of leading pastors and theologians invite us into the transformative and motivating practice of biblical lament as a powerful way to confront racism. Through their conversations in six thought-provoking videos, they name that God’s people of every race are called to consider how we have been shaped and formed by race, and they guide us into experiencing lament as an anti-racism practice.

Encouraging congregations to reclaim the lost art of biblical lament, these pastors and theologians model a powerful way to pour out the fear, shame, grief, and rage of racism as we cry out to God in prayer. In the process, we will be transformed and motivated to reclaim hope and to act for a world shaped by God’s inclusive vision of love and blessing.

This six-session study invites church groups to engage in the practice of biblical lament as a powerful tool in the church’s struggle against racism.

KEY FEATURES

- Thought-provoking video conversations to equip churches to have honest, transformative conversations about race
- Accompanying leader’s guide and participant journals strengthen relationships within churches by providing safe spaces to share personal stories around race
- Learn the lost art of lament as a powerful tool for anti-racism
In 1897, Mennonite and Amish families from northern and western states began to relocate to former plantation land in southeastern Virginia along the banks of the Warwick River. Their move to these 1,000 acres was part of a larger, though little known, movement in the Mennonite church in the late 19th century to settle church colonies in the post–Civil War South.

By developing the depleted soils of former plantations into successful farms and creating new Mennonite congregations, Mennonite leaders hoped to keep their church vital and growing in a time of shrinking membership. They also hoped to find a strategy for mission work in keeping with their faith. Holy Experiment: The Warwick River Mennonite Colony, 1897–1970 explores a critical period of church history through the story of the only Mennonite colony planted in the American South to survive this experiment and eventually thrive.

KEY FEATURES

- In-depth narratives of the families, leaders, and congregations that shaped the Warwick River Mennonite Colony
- Analysis of the Mennonite church mission strategy that focused on planting colonies and congregations in the post–Civil War American South
- Volume 52 in the Studies in Anabaptist and Mennonite History series

What is God’s kingdom? And what does it look like to live as a loyal citizen of God’s reign?

César García leads us on a searching examination of what it means to belong to God’s kingdom, what Jesus’ life and ministry demonstrate about our call to seek it first, and how our allegiance to Jesus challenges and reshapes our loyalties to political systems and governments. Learn about theological concepts such as the separation of church and state and kingdom ethics, and explore practices for people seeking to embody God’s kingdom community.

César García is general secretary of Mennonite World Conference (MWC), an organization that serves some 1.5 million members around the world in the Anabaptist tradition. García is from Bogotá, Colombia, and his appointment in 2012 marked the first time a leader from the Global South has served in this leadership role. He has been a church planter, pastor, and professor of Bible and theology. Prior to his election, García was chair of the Iglesias Hermanos Menonitas de Colombia (Mennonite Brethren Churches of Colombia) and secretary of the MWC Mission Commission.

Who was Jesus? And what does it mean to follow him?

Nancy Elizabeth Bedford helps us consider the identity and mission of Jesus of Nazareth. Learn about the incarnation, how Christians have understood Jesus to be both human and divine, and what his radical teachings and ministry can mean for us today. Find out how Christians through the centuries have understood who Jesus is, and explore communal and individual practices for following him.

Nancy Elizabeth Bedford was born in Comodoro Rivadavia, Argentina. She has been the Georgia Harkness Professor of Theology at Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary since 2003 and is a member of Reba Place Church (Mennonite) in Evanston, Illinois. Previously she taught theology at Instituto Universitario ISEDET and Seminario Internacional Teológico Bautista in Buenos Aires. Her most recent books are Galatians: A Theological Commentary and with Virginia Azcuy and Mercedes García, Teología feminista a tres voces. Bedford holds degrees from University of Tübingen and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. She is married to Daniel Stutz and is the mother of three daughters.

What does God’s mission look like? Who is supposed to carry it out—and how?

Juan Francisco Martínez and Jamie Pitts lead us on an inquiry into God’s mission in the world: what it is, what it is not, and who is invited to be part of it. If Jesus is truly God’s mission incarnate, we need to look at what Jesus did and how he did it. Martínez and Pitts help readers understand what mission means, why Christians in the past have made missteps, and how we can learn from Christian communities that are spreading the good news of Jesus today. Doing mission in the way of Jesus may look different from what many assume, but it is a call that the church cannot afford to miss.

What Is the Church and Why Does It Exist?

David Fitch
2021. 96 pages. PB. 9781513805702. $12.99 USD.
Ebook. 9781513806198. $9.99 USD.
RELIGION / Christian Theology / General

What is the church? And why does it exist? These are essential questions for those who seek to follow Jesus in community.

David Fitch delves into the origins of the church, exploring the identity and calling of the body of Christ in Scripture and church history. Learn about the Christian practices that shape the church and how our understandings of church might change in light of the life of the church through the centuries. At a time when the church in the United States is losing credibility and cultural privilege, Fitch calls us to embrace historic Anabaptism as a model for thriving as God’s people in our own time and place.

Juan Francisco Martínez is vice president of Ashland University and executive dean of Ashland Theological Seminary. Previously he was professor of Hispanic studies and pastoral leadership at Fuller Theological Seminary and rector of the Latin American Anabaptist Seminary (SEMILLA) in Guatemala City. Martínez is an ordained Mennonite Brethren pastor and received his PhD in intercultural studies from Fuller. His academic work has focused on Latino Protestantism in the United States. Martínez is the author and editor of numerous books and articles.

Jamie Pitts is associate professor of Anabaptist theology at Anabaptist Mennonite Biblical Seminary, where he also serves as director of the Institute of Mennonite Studies and edits the journal Anabaptist Witness. His teaching focuses on theology and history, with an emphasis on global Anabaptist traditions past and present. His current research interests include pneumatology, baptism, and gender and sexuality. Pitts has degrees from New College at the University of Edinburgh and Fuller Theological Seminary.

David Fitch is B. R. Lindner Chair of Evangelical Theology at Northern Seminary Chicago, Illinois. He is also one of the cofounders of Missio Alliance and coaches a network of church plants in the Christian and Missionary Alliance. He is the founding pastor of Life on the Vine Christian Community, a missional church in the northwest suburbs of Chicago, and recently has joined the pastoral staff of a daughter congregation, Peace of Christ Church in Westmont, Illinois. He writes on the issues the local church must face in mission, including cultural engagement, leadership, and theology, and has lectured and presented on these topics at many seminars, graduate schools, denominational gatherings, and conferences. His books include The Church of Us vs. Them and Faithful Presence: Seven Disciplines That Shape the Church for Mission.
All about the Amish
Answers to Common Questions
Karen Johnson-Weiner

Everything you want to know about the Amish but are afraid to ask.

Do the Amish pay taxes? Are they Christians? Why do they use horses and buggies but agree to ride in other people’s cars? And how can they even survive in the contemporary world?

In All about the Amish, Amish expert Karen Johnson-Weiner answers the most commonly asked questions people have about the Old Order Amish. After more than 30 years of being friends with the Amish and studying their faith and culture, Johnson-Weiner offers authoritative answers to the most common questions about the unique Amish faith and lifestyle.

KEY FEATURES

- An expert’s succinct introduction to Amish life and faith
- Easily accessible prose with answers to the most common question about the Amish
- Divided into succinct sections about Amish faith, churches, lifestyle, courtship and marriage, and what holds Amish communities together

“Authoritative and accessible, this book answers your questions thoughtfully and thoroughly.” —Steven M. Nolt, author of A History of the Amish

“Johnson-Weiner is a superb guide to the perplexing questions of Amish life. A wealth of information and wisdom.” —Donald B. Kraybill, author of The Riddle of Amish Culture

Karen Johnson-Weiner ably and comprehensively presents answers to pervasive questions about Amish life. This book is an accessible introduction to Amish culture.” —Joshua R. Brown, professor of German and linguistics at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire and co-editor of Pennsylvania Germans: An Interpretive Encyclopedia
Faithful in Small Things
How to Serve the Needy When You’re One of Them
Kevin Wiebe

How can you help the poor when you can barely pay your own bills?

Pastor Kevin Wiebe grew up below the poverty line, with his mother hunting for change in the couch to buy food for the baby. Wiebe now pastors a “low resource” church of mostly immigrants—a congregation that transcends definitions of the helper and the helped and that doesn’t fit neatly into any stereotype of poverty. In Faithful in Small Things, Wiebe shows readers that writing big checks isn’t the only—or even the best—way to alleviate poverty. Along the way, he shines a spotlight on the value of small acts of love as a means of changing the world, and as vitally important to following Jesus.

Investigating scriptural definitions of poverty and God’s heart for the poor throughout the Bible, Wiebe calls readers not only to “help the needy” but to acknowledge their own need and to work with God to serve others. By delving into concepts like brokenness, mutuality, dignity, and systemic injustice, Wiebe exposes gaps in the mainstream Christian understandings of economic inequality and explores holistic ways of reducing poverty. In doing so, he provides a better way forward for Christians committed to working for the flourishing of all.

Jesus ministered to the poor, Jesus was poor. If both are true of our Savior, both can be true of us too.

KEY FEATURES
• Thoughtful treatment of poverty from a Christian perspective in the tradition of When Helping Hurts and Toxic Charity
• Practical ideas for individual Christians and congregations for walking alongside those living in poverty
• Theological and biblical reflections on poverty, wealth, generosity, service, and mutuality

Kevin Wiebe is an Anabaptist writer, pastor, and the creator of Povology, a small-group curriculum on poverty and the church that has been used around the world and featured in publications across the U.S. and Canada. Wiebe grew up among the working poor, with parents who had a standing family rule that “there is always room for one more,” even as they struggled to get by themselves. He is senior pastor of New Life Christian Fellowship in Stevenson, Ontario, a rural congregation whose members are primarily Mennonite immigrants from Mexico. He has degrees from Providence University College and Conrad Grebel University College and is an ordained minister in the Evangelical Mennonite Conference. He and his wife, Emily, have three children.
Tongue-Tied
Learning the Lost Art of Talking about Faith
Sara Wenger Shenk

Are you tongue-tied about faith?

Many Christians easily and eagerly talk about movies, sports, politics, jobs, and emotions. So why are we tongue-tied when it comes to talking about our faith—even with each other? Even with our kids? What renders us incapable, embarrassed, or hesitant to talk about God?

In Tongue-Tied, theologian and former seminary president Sara Wenger Shenk investigates the reasons that people who claim the name of Christ are so reluctant to talk about him. Recovering an authentic vocabulary of faith—and learning to speak in trustworthy, captivating ways—is an urgent task for followers of Jesus today. In an era of dying churches, polarizing cultural arguments, and environmental and humanitarian crises, many people are longing for deep conversations about things that matter. We are longing for genuine spiritual connection with a just and loving God. By reflecting theologically on biblical wisdom and our shared humanness, Shenk calls readers to recover the winsome language of Christian faith.

We don’t need to relearn Christianese or brush up on churchy clichés. We need a language of faith that is authentic, candid, and robust enough to last.

KEY FEATURES

- Theological and biblical reflections on the loss of an authentic and winsome vocabulary of faith among Christians
- Analysis of cultural factors that make speaking of faith difficult
- Practices for speaking about faith in ways that awaken our desire to know God and reconnect us with each other
- Study guide available for use by small groups

Sara Wenger Shenk is a theologian, preacher, and the author of six books. She served as president of Anabaptist Mennonite Biblical Seminary (AMBS) for almost 10 years, where her blog, Practicing Reconciliation, was lauded as a steady and deeply theological resource in anxious and polarized times. Shenk earned degrees from Eastern Mennonite University, Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary, and Union Presbyterian Seminary in Richmond, Virginia. For nine years, she and her husband, Gerald Shenk, served as students and teachers in the former Yugoslavia, and she has served on the faculty and administration of Eastern Mennonite Seminary.

Dear White Peacemakers
Dismantling Racism with Grit and Grace
Osheta Moore

Dear White Peacemakers is a breakup letter to division, a love letter to God’s Beloved Community, and an eviction notice to the violent powers that have sustained racism for centuries.

Race is one of the hardest topics to discuss in America. Many white Christians avoid talking about it altogether. But a commitment to peacemaking requires White people to step out of their comfort and privilege and into the work of anti-racism. Dear White Peacemakers is an invitation to White Christians to come to the table and join this hard work and holy calling. Rooted in the life, ministry, and teachings of Jesus, this book is a challenging call to transform white shame, fragility, saviorism, and privilege in order to work together to build the Beloved Community as anti-racism peacemakers.

Written in the wake of George Floyd’s death, Dear White Peacemakers draws on the Sermon on the Mount, spirituals, and personal stories from author Osheta Moore’s work as a pastor in Saint Paul, Minnesota. Enter into this story of shalom and join in the urgent work of anti-racism peacemaking.

KEY FEATURES

- Affirmation of the identity and calling of White Christians in the work of dismantling racism and building beloved community
- Personal stories of racial bias and racial justice
- Christian approaches to transforming white shame, fragility, saviorism, and privilege
- Everyday practices for building Beloved Community rooted in Jesus’ Sermon on the Mount
- Foreword by Jen Hatmaker

Osheta Moore is a writer, pastor, speaker, and podcaster in Saint Paul, Minnesota, as well as a mother of three and an economic justice advocate for women in developing countries. In addition to pastoring along with her husband at Roots Covenant Church, a multiethnic community in Saint Paul, Moore is the outreach and teaching pastor at Woodland Hills Church. Moore has consistently been a voice for peacemaking, justice, and anti-racism. Her work has been featured on numerous websites and blogs, including Sojourners, SheLoves Magazine, Deeper Story, The Art of Simple, ReKnew, and Rachel Held Evans’s blog. She is the author of Shalom Sistas: Living Wholeheartedly in a Brokenhearted World, published by Herald Press in 2017. Connect with her at Osheta.com and ShalomInTheCity.com.
Reawakened
Activate Your Congregation to Spark Lasting Change
Glen Guyton

Every church wants to make a lasting difference. Light the spark in your congregation.

More and more people are moving away from the church—not because they lack faith in God but because the church is no longer relevant to their lives. The church, not God, is the problem. In Reawakened, Glen Guyton explores eight keys to developing the abilities of congregations to bring healing and hope to their communities. These eight keys give voice to the most urgent needs of a community and offer practical suggestions for how churches can spark holistic and lasting differences in their communities.

Built on a solid biblical framework, Reawakened positions churches as catalysts for transformative mission and change. Filled with stories from successful ministries that are actively engaging their communities, Reawakened helps Christians ask the big questions about God’s ongoing work in the world.

KEY FEATURES

- A compelling vision for churches as catalysts for holistic healing and hope
- Outlines eight keys as strategies for unlocking the power of a church’s mission
- Offers biblical and theological solutions for churches in an era of waning influence
- Foreword by Josh Packard

Glen Guyton is executive director of Mennonite Church USA, the first African American to serve in that role, and consults with leaders to help them reap the benefits of developing more diverse, inclusive, and culturally competent organizations. A proven leader, Guyton is a former Air Force officer and has years of experience serving in executive roles, coaching leaders, and cultivating relationships with diverse volunteers and donors. A father of two and a native of Houston, Texas, Guyton stays in shape and helps to offset his passion for great food by running. He holds a BS in management from the U.S. Air Force Academy and an MS in education from Regent University.
Let the Light In
Healing from Distorted Images of God
Colin J. McCartney

Do you feel that God is angry with you? Or at least disappointed?

Our view of God shapes our minds, behavior, and relationships. What happens when we view God as a furious, frustrated deity? What changes when we glimpse a God who looks like Jesus?

Building on personal experience, biblical study, and recent discoveries in neuroscience, pastor and ministry coach Colin McCartney warns of the dangers of viewing God as a judgmental, angry dictator. Such a negative view of God poisons the mind and produces alienation from God and others. McCartney lays out a strong case, rooted in Scripture, for a more accurate image of a God who is Love. Healing from distorted images of God is one of the primary tasks of the maturing Christian, and McCartney gently leads readers on this healing journey. He also refuses to shy away from difficult topics such as God’s wrath, hell as eternal punishment, and violent depictions of God in the Bible. By sharing the beliefs of the early church fathers and mothers and pointing to a Christ-centered hermeneutic, McCartney inspires readers with the truth of a God who is extremely involved and deeply in love with every one of us.

What if the boundless love that we see in Jesus Christ isn't just one of many traits of God? What if that infinite, absolute love is, well, everything?

KEY FEATURES

- Contains strong biblical case for a God whose character is fully revealed in Jesus
- Offers pastoral and therapeutic perspectives on how distorted images of God fuel dysfunctional relationships with God and others
- Presents solid theological examination of related topics such as hell, Jesus’ command to love enemies, and violence in the Old Testament
- Foreword by Tony Campolo

Colin McCartney has worked in urban missions for over 35 years. He is the founder of two urban ministries and the author of The Beautiful Disappointment, Red Letter Revolution and with with his wife, Judith, What Does Justice Look Like and Why Does Care about It? He has appeared on Canadian television and radio and published articles in national newspapers regarding urban issues. He is a mentor to pastors and businesspeople and serves as a ministry trainer and coach. He is also a popular speaker and currently leads an urban church planting movement called Connect City.
The Land Is Not Empty
Following Jesus in Dismantling the Doctrine of Discovery
Sarah Augustine

White settlers saw land for the taking. They failed to consider the perspective of the people already here.

In The Land Is Not Empty, author Sarah Augustine unpacks the harm of the Doctrine of Discovery—a set of laws rooted in the 15th century that gave Christian governments the moral and legal right to seize lands they “discovered” despite those lands already being populated by Indigenous Peoples. Legitimized by the church and justified by a misreading of Scripture, the Doctrine of Discovery says a land inhabited by “heathens, pagans, and infidels” can be considered “empty” and therefore free for the taking.

In this prophetic book, Augustine who is Pueblo (Tewa), reframes the colonization of North America as she investigates ways that the Doctrine of Discovery continues to devastate Indigenous cultures, and even the planet itself, as it justifies exploitation of both natural resources and people. This is a powerful call to reckon with the root causes of a legacy that continues to have devastating effects on Indigenous Peoples around the globe and a call to recognize how our lives and our choices are interwoven.

What was done in the name of Christ must be undone in the name of Christ, the author asserts. The good news of Jesus means there is still hope for the righting of wrongs. Right relationship with God, others, and the earth requires no less.

KEY FEATURES

- Insightful commentary by a Pueblo (Tewa) community activist on the ongoing legacy of the Doctrine of Discovery
- Moving personal narrative interwoven with perceptive historical analysis of the dehumanization of Native Americans
- A powerful call for Christians to right the wrongs done to Indigenous communities in the name of the Christ
- Foreword by Mark Charles

Sarah Augustine is founder and cochair of the Dismantling the Doctrine of Discovery Coalition and executive director of the Dispute Resolution Center of Yakima and Kittitas Counties. Augustine has written for Sojourners, The Mennonite, and other publications, and she is an adjunct professor at Heritage University. She and her husband, Dan Peplow, and their son live in the Yakima Valley of Washington.
Peanut Butter and Dragon Wings
A Mother’s Search for Grace
Shari Zook

Longing for permission to be real about your own needs and struggles? Permission granted.

As good Christian moms, we’re not supposed to ask for much. Jesus meets all our needs and we’re the light of the world to everybody else, right? Wrong.

Shari Zook appeared to be an overachieving supermom who deftly supported her pastor-husband and their congregation, looked after their children, and cared for foster children through the ups and downs of placements. But inside, her world was growing increasingly desperate as she struggled with the grief of miscarriage, parenting a difficult child, and spiraling depression.

In her darkest hour, Zook let go of her need to appear superhuman and reached out to receive God’s unfolding grace. With humor and artistry, Peanut Butter and Dragon Wings gives us permission to step out from behind the appearance of rose-filtered perfection and embrace the authenticity of honest need and human limitations. In the book’s 12 chapters you’ll find 12 practical ways to reach for a faith that includes doubt, and holiness that includes failure.

KEY FEATURES

• Authentic stories of the challenges of motherhood, family, and faith in a culture that too often leaves women feeling inadequate
• An invitation to release perfection and embrace authentic vulnerability
• Twelve practices for Christian moms to seek and receive the care of faith community

Shari Zook is a pastor’s wife, mother of four, and foster parent for the past six years. She bakes cakes, raises herbs, and reads amazing books, but her heart is in raising children, crafting words, and connecting with women. She lives with her family in northwestern Pennsylvania and attends Meadville Mennonite Chapel, where her husband, Ryan, pastors. She blogs at Confessions of a Woman Learning to Live (ShariZook.com).
How to Have an Enemy
Righteous Anger and the Work of Peace
Melissa Florer-Bixler

Does Jesus’ call to love our enemies mean that we should remain silent in the face of injustice?

Jesus called us to love our enemies. But to befriend our enemies, we first have to acknowledge their existence, understand who they are, and recognize the ways they are acting in opposition to God’s good news. In How to Have an Enemy: Righteous Anger and the Work of Peace, Melissa Florer-Bixler looks closely at what the Bible says about enemies—who they are, what they do, and how Jesus and his followers responded to them. The result is a theology that allows us to name our enemies as a form of truth-telling about ourselves, our communities, and the histories in which our lives are embedded. Only then can we grapple with the power of the acts of destruction carried out by our enemies, and invite them to lay down their enmity, opening a path for healing, reconciliation, and unity.

Jesus named and confronted his enemies as an essential part to loving them. In this provocative book, Florer-Bixler calls us to do the same.

KEY FEATURES
- Compelling counter-narrative that centers on Jesus’ practice of naming and confronting enemies
- Practical guidance for faith communities seeking to discern how they and others have acted as enemies of the good news of Jesus
- Examines themes such racial injustice, oppression, and coercive power
- Foreword by Otis Moss III

Melissa Florer-Bixler is a writer and pastor with degrees from Duke University and Princeton Theological Seminary. Her ministry at Raleigh Mennonite Church has been featured in The Atlantic and Sojourners. She writes for Geez Magazine, Christian Century, and Anabaptist World, among others. She is the author of Fire by Night: Finding God in the Pages of the Old Testament. She lives with her husband and three children in Raleigh, North Carolina.
The End of Religion
Encountering the Subversive Spirituality of Jesus STUDY GUIDE
Bruxy Cavey

Sick of religion? So was Jesus.

Around the world a movement is growing. People are waking up to the spiritual beauty of the teachings of Jesus while rejecting the many ugly aspects of the religion that bears his name. If you are among those who are disappointed with religion yet are still strangely pulled toward spirituality, author Bruxy Cavey will help you make sense of it all.

Join Cavey in an exploration of how 21st-century people can live into the subversive spirituality of a first-century radical and discover what the Bible claims is the world God originally intended and still desires: a world without religion.

The End of Religion Study Guide will help you and your group unpack Cavey’s teachings in The End of Religion to help you understand, discuss, and live into the subversive spirituality of Jesus.

KEY FEATURES

Leaving Silence
Sexualized Violence, the Bible, and Standing with Survivors
Susannah Larry
#MeToo. #ChurchToo. #GodToo?

What if survivors of sexualized violence experienced the Bible as a powerful spiritual resource rather than an oppressive tool in the hands of those seeking to dismiss or justify abuse? Bible scholar Susannah Larry leads fellow survivors and those who care for them in a journey toward reclaiming the Bible amid the trauma of sexualized violence.

Leaving Silence is an unflinching examination of sexualized violence in the Bible and the God who stands steadfastly with survivors. Larry addresses biblical experiences of coercion, familial betrayal, and self-blame while also illuminating God’s constant care and concern.

By centering the experiences of survivors in Scripture, Larry opens new insights into some of the Bible’s most difficult texts and releases its ancient stories to serve as a powerful healing witness to the God who has shared in the experience of sexualized violence. Under Larry’s skillful guidance, readers will rediscover the God who is present in experiences of trauma and who desires ultimate wholeness for survivors.

KEY FEATURES
• Reclaims the Bible as a powerful spiritual resource for survivors of sexualized violence
• Examines experiences of sexual coercion, familial betrayal, and self-blame in the Bible
• Illuminates God’s presence with survivors of sexualized trauma and God’s desire for their wholeness

The Space Between Us
Conversations about Transforming Conflict
Betty Pries
Engage conflict to strengthen connections and build understanding.
Conflict is inevitable. But rather than approaching conflicts as threats or problems to be solved, what if we could see our disagreements as opportunities for personal growth? Could our differences push us toward developing healthier relationships and communities? In The Space Between Us, facilitator and mediator Betty Pries gently guides readers toward seeing discord as an opportunity for positive change and a way to build resilience. Rooted in the conviction that conflict can strengthen our relationships and deepen our self-knowledge, Pries offers practical skills for engaging conflict and casts a vision for a future filled with more joy.

To get there, Pries plumbs the depths of both conflict theory and contemplative spirituality, proposing a vision for engaging conflict in new and life-giving ways. Rooted in Christian practices of mindfulness, connecting with our most authentic selves, and deep listening to uncover new possibilities, this book offers new ways forward in the face of interpersonal and organizational conflicts.

KEY FEATURES
- Reframes conflict as an opportunity for positive change in our relationships
- Draws on contemplative Christian spirituality as a resource for navigating conflict in life-giving ways
- Offers practical guidance for engaging everyday conflicts with curiosity and grace

Betty Pries is founder and CEO of Credence & Co., a consulting agency dedicated to working with organizations and their leaders to help them thrive and flourish. With over 26 years of experience coaching, mediating, training, facilitating, and consulting, Pries is highly regarded as a specialist in conflict, change, and leadership. She brings a unique mix of biblical and theological reflection, spiritual guidance, organizational leadership, and facilitation skills to her work with congregations, faith-based institutions, universities, healthcare entities, government agencies, and businesses.

A Cloud of Witnesses
Celebrating Indonesian Mennonites
John D. Roth

Indonesia is home to the oldest Mennonite community outside of Europe and North America. Author John D. Roth traces the 170-year history of Mennonites in Indonesia alongside the larger cultural and religious history of the country. By placing the legacy of European colonization from the 16th century to national independence in 1945 beside the history of the Dutch Mennonite mission to Indonesia in the 19th century, Roth creates a rich narrative tapestry.

A Cloud of Witnesses traces the emergence of the three Mennonite-related groups found today in Indonesia. Like all churches, they have each integrated the good news of the gospel with local culture, ethnic identity, religious currents, and national history in a distinctive way.

In July 2022, these three Mennonite groups in Indonesia will collaboratively host the 17th global assembly of Mennonite World Conference in Semarang, Java. A Cloud of Witnesses helps to orient other members of the global Anabaptist-Mennonite church to the history and identity of this unique group of churches while also providing practical travel tips, recipes, and reference notes on culture and language and tourist sites—making it the perfect accompaniment for those who plan to travel to Indonesia for Mennonite World Conference in the summer of 2022.

Selamat datang!

KEY FEATURES
- Published ahead of a Mennonite World Conference gathering in Indonesia in summer 2022
- Orient readers to the unique story of the Indonesian Mennonite church
- Brings together for the first time a history of all three Indonesian Mennonite groups
- Appendices with Indonesian recipes and travel guidance
A Gentle Boldness

Sharing the Peace of Jesus in a Multi-Faith World

David W. Shenk

A global citizen. A commitment to sharing the peace of Jesus. A witness to the difference that Jesus makes.

The story of David Shenk either begins in Shirati Village in Tanganyika, East Africa, or we might decide it begins among the orchards of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, where farmers with their horses line up a mile for water as they rearrange their loads for their trek home on market day. In either reading, this is a story of mission—a story of people chattering along a roadside spring on the way to and from market.

At age six, Shenk asked his parents, “What difference does Jesus make?” The answer to that question is the reason he became a Christian. Day by day, as he travels in the way of Jesus—living, serving, and ministering around the world—Shenk continues to unpack what difference Jesus makes.

This is not just the story of Shenk and his remarkable work in Christian missions. It’s the stories that David has heard within societies, cultures, and religions when he asks the question, What difference does Jesus make?

KEY FEATURES

- Each chapter is centered in a story of the church in mission and how lives are being transformed—from Tanzania to Somalia to Pennsylvania
- Stories tell of the transforming power of faith in Jesus from across the world
- Celebrates the joys and challenges of living as a people of Jesus devoted to peace

Not Quite Fine
Mental Health, Faith, and Showing Up for One Another
Carlene Hill Byron
A practical guide for people who care.

There is no time in history and no place in the world where so many people have understood themselves to be suffering from mental health challenges. There is also virtually no time and no place in the world where people who are suffering have been so readily ostracized.

In Not Quite Fine, author Carlene Hill Byron tackles the mounting dilemmas that pastors and churches face around mental health. Medicines and therapies have their roles in supporting those who live with mental health problems or mental illness. But God’s own body as the church is intended to be our greatest support in this world. How can the church step up for such a time as this? How can the body of Christ become a healing community for its members in pain—a place where the weary find strength for the journey, a place where those who mourn are raised up as rebuilders of the cities left in ruins?

Drawing on her own history of mental health problems and her experience as a teacher and lay counselor, Byron offers words of hope for those who struggle as well as practical insights to equip congregations to better support those who are suffering in their midst.

KEY FEATURES
- Draws on the author’s own experiences with depression or bipolar disorder since the age of 19 to offer a new vision for the church’s response to mental health problems
- Offers many examples of care from stories of people with mental health issues
- Chapters offer practical insights in the form of a “competent caregiver’s toolkit”
- Provides a vision for how the body of Christ as the church can come together to support those who are suffering

Carlene Hill Byron is a fundraiser and communicator for non-profits that serve people with disabilities and other profound life challenges. The former editor of New England Church Life and The New England Christian, she is a spiritual wellness volunteer in the MaineHealth hospital system and is active in her Lutheran church. She has been medically treated for depression or bipolar disorder since the age of 19, with doctors attempting more than 20 different medications to contain her symptoms. On Love and Mercy
A Social Justice Devotional
Stephen Mattson

A hopeful and Christ-centered devotional for Christians who know social justice to be a good and holy endeavor.

On Love and Mercy is a 60-day devotional that invites readers to expand their vision of both personal faith in God and the redemptive and saving work of social action. Breaking down the premise that Christians must choose between being either socially conscience or theologically sound, author Stephen Mattson offers the hopeful message that Jesus—and Christianity—is both. Each day’s entry offers Christians who long to see justice and equity within society a much-needed source of affirmation, solidarity, and encouragement.

These heartfelt devotions bring readers hope and encouragement to embrace social justice as the Christlike discipline that it always was and is meant to be. On Love and Mercy validates social justice practices within the Christian faith by centering the example of Jesus as the ultimate standard.

Although our religion will fail us, Jesus never will. He walks alongside us in living out God’s commands to us to love our neighbors to the best of our ability. Step into this journey and discover anew what it means to be devoted to Jesus and justice.

KEY FEATURES

- Timely devotional that holds together Christian faith and social action
- Offers words of hope for Christians devoted to Jesus and putting his words about justice into practice
- Rooted in the Bible to expand our understandings of justice
Violence in the streets. Military expansion. Consumerism. Policies exploiting people and natural resources. Harassment and abuse: 1 & 2 Kings could hardly be more relevant. In the 34th volume of the Believers Church Bible Commentary series, Old Testament scholar Lynn Jost claims 1 & 2 Kings were written to form a community that would embrace the Ten Commandments and the Great Shema and would champion righteousness and compassion. Jost traces the characteristics of royal justice, with its systems of excess and indulgence, as well as the court intrigue, succession politics, interfamily rivalries, and prophetic judgment that mark the books. Through it all, Israel remains in a covenant relationship with a delivering God. Through it all, God calls the leaders and the people to practice justice, protect shalom, and live righteously. In vivid and accessible prose, Jost invites pastors, scholars, and lay readers to read 1 & 2 Kings as books of promise—ones that gesture toward a faithful God who rescues, judges, commands, and provides.

KEY FEATURES

• Biblical commentary from an Anabaptist perspective
• Unique format that includes sections on The Text in the Biblical Context and The Text in the Life of the Church
• Cooperative project of the Brethren in Christ Church, Brethren Church, Church of the Brethren, Mennonite Brethren Church, Mennonite Church Canada, and Mennonite Church USA

“This readable commentary series is for all who seek more fully to understand the original message of Scripture and its meaning for today—Sunday school teachers, members of Bible study groups, students, pastors, and other seekers.” —From the Series Foreword
Regina Shands Stoltzfus and Tobin Miller Shearer offer a powerful mix of practical direction and poignant reflection to empower and sustain those working to dismantle racism, regardless of their stage in the journey.

Stoltzfus and Shearer draw on the power and promise of interracial relationships to offer a vision for an anti-racist spirituality. Together this Black woman and White man address the spirituality of conflict and crisis, embracing Blackness amid an anti-Black culture, and the importance of spiritual disciplines in the work of antiracism. Whether we are working to dismantle racism in our own lives or inside institutions, their words on transformation, historical trauma, spiritual formation, and the importance of authentic, restorative celebration will inspire and sustain us for road ahead.

KEY FEATURES

- Offers a model of interracial friendship rooted in nearly 30 years of practice
- Tackles addressing racism from the lens of Christian spirituality
- Helps readers understand dismantling racism as an unfolding journey
- Both authors are seasoned presenters and speakers on topics related to dismantling racism
Inside the Simple Life

Speak Your Peace

What the Bible Says about Loving Our Enemies

Ronald J. Sider

Is nonviolence irresponsible? Is peacemaking naïve?

From one of the most respected and prophetic voices in Christianity today comes Speak Your Peace. Ronald J. Sider, author of the influential Rich Christians in an Age of Hunger, plumbs Scripture, building a persuasive case that Jesus meant what he said when he commanded us to love our enemies.

With candor and logic, Sider takes on enduring questions about violence and nonviolence, showing how the contemporary church in a warring world has largely set aside Jesus’ call to love our enemies and traded its birthright in Christ for a stew of nationalism and militarism. But ignoring what Jesus said about killing is a huge theological mistake. Returning us to the inescapable call of the Son of God, Sider reminds the church of its true vocation in a world of hatred and war.

KEY FEATURES

• A biblical case for nonviolence from one of the leading Christian voices in North America
• Candid reflections on tough questions about nonviolence, pacifism, just war theory, Christians and the military, and Old Testament violence
• Discussion and reflection questions at the end of each chapter

“As our society grows ever more fearful, and therefore prone to violence, this truth-telling word from Sider is an urgent one among us.” —Walter Brueggemann, professor emeritus of Old Testament at Columbia Theological Seminary

“Sider dares us to consider Jesus’ call to love our enemies not as an idealistic goal, but as a realistic policy.” —Kathy Khang, author of Raise Your Voice

“Sider challenges us to exchange the nationalist idols of flags and swords for the cross of Christ.” —Jer Swigart, cofounding director of The Global Immersion Project and coauthor of Mending the Divides

“Sider’s explication of Christian nonviolence, for both individuals and society, is one of the strongest I have seen.” —Jim Wallis, president of Sojourners, editor-in-chief of Sojourners magazine, and author of America’s Original Sin

Ronald J. Sider is the author or editor of 40 books, including Rich Christians in an Age of Hunger, and is internationally renowned for his leadership among Christians who recognize the social, political, and spiritual implications of the gospel. Having earned a PhD from Yale University, Sider is distinguished senior professor emeritus of theology, holistic ministry, and public policy at Palmer Seminary at Eastern University and is founder and president emeritus of Evangelicals for Social Action. An ordained minister in both Mennonite and Brethren in Christ denominations, Sider lives with his wife, Arbutus, in eastern Pennsylvania. He blogs at Ronsiderblog.substack.com.

Seasons of Amish Life
Rhythms of the Year

Photographs by Danny Graber

Harmony with nature is an Amish art.

From photographer Danny Graber comes Seasons of Amish Life, a vibrant photographic collection of an Amish community through the year. Through remarkable photographs and sensitive prose, visit a snow-covered pond at dawn, when men and boys cut blocks of ice and load them onto wagons. See Amish women planting gardens in spring and children helping fathers thresh oats in high summer. High summer brings together the whole community to raise a barn in two days.

Watch and learn from a community that works with nature's calendar, not against it. See the beauty of traditions carried forward in time.

KEY FEATURES
- Remarkable photographs of an Old Order Amish community at work together through the year
- Rare glimpses of tasks such as cutting blocks of ice, logging, and barn raising
- Informative, sensitive descriptions of Old Order Amish life
- Celebrate alongside a community that works together, values simplicity, and stewards the land

Danny Graber is a photographer who lives in northern Indiana. Graber was born and raised on a farm in north central Indiana and has lived in and among Amish communities most of his life. Find his work at DannyGraberPhotography.com.

This Is God’s Table
Finding Church Beyond the Walls
Anna Woofenden

Can a barren city lot become a church? This is the story of an audacious journey. It’s the story of what happens when people garden, worship, and eat together—and invite anyone and everyone to join them. In This Is God’s Table, writer and pastor Anna Woofenden describes the way that the wealthy and the poor, the aged and the young, the housed and unhoused become a community in this once-empty lot. Together they plant and sustain a thriving urban farm, worship God, and share a weekly meal. Together they craft a shared life and a place of authenticity where all are welcome. Readers of Nadia Bolz-Weber, Sara Miles, and Diana Butler Bass will find here a kindred vision for a church without walls.

As churches across the Western world wither, what would it take to find a raw, honest, gritty way of doing church—one rooted in place, nurtured by grace, and grounded in God’s expansive love? What would it take to carry the liturgy outside the gates? What if we were to discover that in feeding others, we are fed? This is God’s table. Come and eat.

KEY FEATURES

• Reflections from a millennial pastor on an innovative approach to church
• Theological and cultural exploration of church in a post-Christian context
• Foreword by Sara Miles, author of Take This Bread, Jesus Freak, and City of God

Anna Woofenden is a writer, speaker, pastor, and leading voice in the food and faith movement. She is the founding pastor of the Garden Church in San Pedro, California, founder of Feed and Be Fed Farm, and cohost of the Food and Faith podcast. She serves as the Protestant chaplain at Amherst College and lives with her husband David in Northampton, Massachusetts. Woofenden is passionate about spirituality, justice, food, the earth, and community, and is driven by a calling to reimagine church. Connect with her at AnnaWoofenden.com.

“If you are close to giving up on the church, or if you, like Anna, feel an irrepressible seed of hope for the church growing in you, this is the book you’ve been waiting for.” —Brian D. McLaren, speaker, activist, and author of The Great Spiritual Migration

“If you are longing for a new vision for what ‘the church’ can be, read this story of hope and courage and let the hope for beloved community grow and flower in you.” —Amy Butler, public theologian and former senior minister of the Riverside Church

“Anna Woofenden tells an important story about taking chances. Everyone who reads This Is God’s Table will discover that there really is enough right under our feet to make church together.” —Paul D. Fromberg, rector of St. Gregory of Nyssa Episcopal Church

“People ask me often how to get millennials to come back to church. Many of the answers are in this book—we have to be willing to reimagine church, giving place to imagination and holy risk-taking.” —Jana Riess, author of Flunking Sainthood and The Next Mormons

“Profoundly lovely, wise, challenging, and grace-haunted, This Is God’s Table is a story every pastor, congregant, and Christian should read.” —Courtney Ellis, pastor, speaker, and author of Almost Holy Mama and Uncluttered
I Am Not Your Enemy
Stories to Transform a Divided World
Michael T. McRay
Are you my enemy? Am I yours?
Violent stories surround us. Brutal beginnings, horror-filled middles, despair-inducing endings. We need better stories: stories forged in the furnace of conflict, narratives that kindle compassion and ignite hope. In the pages of I Am Not Your Enemy, writer Michael T. McRay visits divided regions of the world and interviews activists, peacebuilders, and former combatants about their personal stories of conflict, justice, and reconciliation. In Israel and Palestine, Northern Ireland, and South Africa, he hears from grieving parents who partner together across enemy lines, a woman who meets her father’s killer, a man who uses theater to counter the oppression of his people, and many more.

In a time of heightened alienation and fear, McRay offers true, sacred stories of reconciliation and justice, asking what they can teach us about our own divided states. Must violence be met with violence? Is my belonging complete only when I take away yours? Will more guns, more walls, more weapons keep us safe?

We need stories that cultivate empathy and tell the truth. We need stories to save us from our fear.

KEY FEATURES

• Insight into some of the most intractable conflicts of recent centuries
• Interviews with activists, pastors, former combatants, and peacebuilders who are working toward reconciliation and social justice in communities in conflict
• Reflections on social division, inequality, and white supremacy in the United States
• Profiles of peacebuilding organizations including Corrymeela and Glencree Center for Peace and Reconciliation in Northern Ireland; Roots, Taghyeer, Wi’am Palestinian Conflict Transformation Center, Combatants for Peace, and Parents Circle Families Forum in Israel and Palestine; and Institute for Justice and Reconciliation in South Africa
• Foreword by Ishmael Beah, bestselling author of A Long Way Gone

“Michael McRay brilliantly weaves together stories of people involved in conflicts and wrestles with difficult questions that are significant to all those working for justice. Read this book and be moved to tears, yet also inspired by hope.” —Raja Shehadeh, author of Going Home and Palestinian Walks

“Michael McRay is a caretaker of stories. He handles some of the most delicate stories in the world with the care they deserve and offers them to us as a holy sacrament.” —Shane Claiborne, author, speaker, activist, and cofounder of Red Letter Christians

“Michael McRay reminds us that there is love and humanity everywhere, even in the most unlikely places.” —Zana Marjanović, actress, filmmaker, and former member of the Parliament of the Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina

“In our era of fake news, hate speech, xenophobia, and racism, Michael McRay offers a compelling way back to dignity and self-respect—by choosing to listen carefully to the stories of so-called enemies instead of showering them with fear and prejudice.” —Fanie Du Toit, senior advisor of the Institute for Justice and Reconciliation in Cape Town, South Africa
Protect your time. Prioritize relationships. Restore your spirit.

Technology teaches us to crave the hum and buzz of activity and the dopamine hit of notifications. Yet social media and technology have shortened our attention spans, disrupted our connections with others, and even muddled our spirituality.

In Reconnect, contemplative author and retreat leader Ed Cyzewski investigates the crisis of attention that is leading to mental health challenges and extending to our souls. Yet the Christian contemplative tradition—deeply rooted in the spiritual traditions and practices of the church—offers a way forward, grinding the gears of this frenetic activity and thinking to an unspectacular halt. For all its benefits and promises, technology trains its users to pursue the exact opposite of contemplative prayer practices every day, claims Cyzewski.

Grounded in current research into the impact of technology, Reconnect helps Christians rewire their technology addictions and train themselves to be present and aware of God rather than tuned into the constant distractions and deceptions of this digital age. When phones go dark and social media feeds stop scrolling, can we step into a deeper stillness and presence with an always present God?

KEY FEATURES

- Helps Christians rewire their technology addictions to be present and aware of God
- Calls readers to deeper stillness through the Christian contemplative tradition
- Unpacks how we have become shackled to our screens and reshaped by social media
- Grounded in the deeply rooted spiritual traditions and practices of the church
- Foreword by Seth Haines, author of The Book of Waking Up

“Ed Cyzewski is asking us to open our eyes to what social media is doing to us and to remember that true discipleship, relationship, and spiritual formation are found in the quiet places.” — Shawn Smucker, author of Once We Were Strangers

“Reconnect is a deeply practical, beautifully written invitation to consider anew how best to cultivate a life of connection to God and neighbor.” — Megan Westra, pastor and author of Born Again and Again

“Ed Cyzewski’s book offers us an invitation to lean into our technological world while staying tethered to discipline and simplicity through soul work and contemplative spirituality.” — Kaitlin Curtice, author of Glory Happening

“Ed Cyzewski winsomely demonstrates how our uncritical use and overuse of digital media ‘blinds us to the brilliance of God’ and then shows us how to make things right. This book is sorely needed!” — Marlena Graves, author of The Way Up Is Down

“Ed Cyzewski takes on the digital tsunami that has swamped our lives and the spiritual damage it creates and shows us how to remain rooted in what matters most. Highly recommended.” — Bradley Wright, professor of sociology at the University of Connecticut
Jesus of the East
Reclaiming the Gospel for the Wounded
Phuc Luu

Why does our theology of salvation focus on forgiving sinners, but not on healing those wounded by sin?

Much of Western Christianity has subdued the narrative of Jesus as a Palestinian Jewish healer and liberator who served the sick and oppressed. But the Jesus of the Gospels is a revolutionary who stands with the sinned-against, the wounded, and the marginalized. In Jesus of the East, author Phuc Luu re-narrates the life of Jesus to show how he made it his work to topple systems that privileged the few and disregarded the many, especially the poor and lowest.

In this provocative book, Luu offers a counter-narrative to Western Christianity, which for centuries has legitimized colonization and violence to prop up the powerful at the expense of the masses. Pulling from the tradition of the early Eastern church, the present work of theologians of the oppressed, and Luu’s own experiences as a Vietnamese immigrant, Jesus of the East offers a transformative vision of healing for the world.

For those living in the land between pain and hope, Luu’s prophetic words will renew our imaginations and draw us closer to the heart of God.

KEY FEATURES

• A Vietnamese immigrant’s fresh reading of the Gospels with a heart for the marginalized
• Compelling counter-narrative that refocuses Jesus as the healer of the “sinned against”
• A must-read for those who want to apply Jesus’ deep experience as the recipient of hurt to their own hurts
• Fresh theological insights into how Korean minjung theology—a people’s theology focused on how to remedy han, or woundedness—offers liberation

“Moving, thought-provoking, and transformative.” —Andrew Sung Park, professor of theology and ethics at United Theological Seminary and author of Triune Atonement

“Integrates deep research with personal narrative, creating a compassionate theology as inspiring, skillful, and accessible as a great work of art or a grand poem.” —Randy Woodley, distinguished professor of faith and culture at Portland Seminary of George Fox University and author of Shalom and the Community of Creation

“Reveals the deep woundedness in humanity and God’s intentional liberation.” —C. Andrew Doyle, Episcopal bishop of Texas and author of Citizen: Faithful Discipleship in a Partisan World

“An insightful, provocative study that challenges many of the presuppositions of dominant theology among us.”
—Walter Brueggemann, professor emeritus of Old Testament at Columbia Theological Seminary
Born Again and Again
Jesus’ Call to Radical Transformation
Megan K. Westra

Got salvation? What if salvation is not one more thing to acquire but an invitation to radical transformation?

Christians often turn life—and faith—into one big quest for the good life. We expect to “get” a good job, loving spouse, a life of comfort, personal satisfaction—oh, and salvation with a cherry on top. Our acquisitive impulses aren’t limited to lattes and designer jeans; Christians in power throughout history have focused on getting people saved, possessing the land, and gaining dominance in government. But what if Christianity isn’t about striving for something more, but about renouncing the power and privilege that prevent us from receiving God’s abundant life? What if we are called not to treat salvation as one more thing to pursue but as an invitation to conform to Christ?

Born Again and Again is the story of how a religion birthed on the margins of the Roman Empire became functionally the official religion of today’s largest military superpower. Pastor and blogger Megan K. Westra takes on the self-serving form of Christianity that has birthed the doctrine of discovery, planet-killing lifestyles, and civil religion. She leads readers into an encounter with the Jesus who gave up everything to come to us and invites us to give up everything to come to him. Conforming to Christ radically reorients our lives, priorities, and faith away from the pursuit of our own interests and toward a pattern of discipleship, setting us free from fear-based consumption and creating new possibilities for connection and belonging within the community of God’s people.

KEY FEATURES
• Unpacks how American Christianity’s emphasis on “getting saved” obscures the message of the gospel
• Reframes salvation as an ongoing, transformative experience rather than a one-time moment
• Offers hope to those turned off or disillusioned by a Christianity that can’t sustain evolving understandings of faith and salvation

“Beautiful and insight-filled.” —Lisa Sharon Harper, author of The Very Good Gospel, from the foreword

“A wide-ranging, historically informed, and hopeful book that centers diverse voices and helps us see new possibilities for the church. Megan Westra expands our view of what the church can be in the future with a personal, communal, and public faith.” —Ed Cyzewski, author of Reconnect: Spiritual Restoration from Digital Distraction and Flee, Be Silent, Pray: Ancient Prayers for Anxious Christians

“If you have been left empty and disappointed by a personal relationship with Jesus that failed to address the injustices in the world, this book will challenge and encourage you.” —Karen González, author of The God Who Sees: Immigrants, the Bible, and the Journey to Belong

Megan K. Westra is on the pastoral staff team at Transformation City Church in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. A dynamic and passionate public speaker, Westra presented at the Christian Community Development Association’s national conference in 2015 and 2017. Westra is pursuing her MDiv at Northern Seminary. She lives in Milwaukee with her husband, Ben, and their daughter Cadence.
Who Will Be a Witness?
Igniting Activism for God’s Justice, Love, and Deliverance
Drew G. I. Hart

Churches have begun awakening to social and political injustices, often carried out in the name of Christianity. But once awakened, how will we respond?

Who Will Be a Witness? offers a vision for communities of faith to organize for deliverance and justice in their neighborhoods, states, and nation as an essential part of living out the call of Jesus.

Author Drew G. I. Hart provides incisive insights into Scripture and history, along with illuminating personal stories, to help us identify how the witness of the church has become mangled by Christendom, white supremacy, and religious nationalism. Hart provides a wide range of options for congregations seeking to give witness to Jesus’ ethic of love for and solidarity with the vulnerable.

At a time when many feel disillusioned and distressed, Hart calls the church to action, offering a way forward that is deeply rooted in the life and witness of Jesus. Hart’s testimony is powerful, personal, and profound, serving as a compass that points the church to the future and offers us a path toward meaningful social change and a more faithful witness to the way of Jesus.

KEY FEATURES

- Provides strategies and tactics for organizing using Christian principles of love and justice
- Filled with insights into where Christianity has gone awry and how to make things right
- Guidance from the prominent theologian, activist, and author of Trouble I’ve Seen

“Drew Hart is fast becoming a go-to voice for articulating a practical and prophetic Christianity in our time.” — Jarrod Mckenna, award-winning peace activist, pastor, founding CEO of Common Grace, and cohost of InVerse podcast

“A must-read—offering a tangible and compelling way forward for everyone who claims to be a follower of Jesus.” — Gail Song Bantum, lead pastor of Quest Church

“The most challenging and enriching book that I have read in a very long time—a book brimming over with moral urgency, uncommon wisdom, and spiritual insight.” — Richard T. Hughes, author of Myths America Lives By: White Supremacy and the Stories That Give Us Meaning

“This brilliant public intellectual, preacher, and cultural critic is uniquely gifted to cross denominational, racial, political, and class lines to offer a vision of hope and healing our nation is yearning to hear. Do yourself a favor and purchase this book.” — Otis Moss III, senior pastor of Trinity United Church of Christ in Chicago

“Using powerful imagery and a historical framework, Drew Hart challenges the church to roll up our sleeves.” — Glen Guyton, executive director of Mennonite Church USA and author of Reawakened: How Your Congregation Can Spark Lasting Change
Dennis R. Edwards

God has empowered marginalized Christians to transform the church.

The power of the gospel is often most visible among those who have been the least respected, including racial or ethnic minorities, people with disabilities, women, and people who have been displaced from their homeland. Yet in many faith communities, these are the same people whose leadership gifts are least likely to be recognized. But the power of the gospel comes from God, not from other humans. This book is a passionate affirmation of the power already present among marginalized Christians and a call to recognize and embrace this power for the sake of helping the church become more like Christ.

Marginalized Christians are already changing the face of the church. Will we embrace their power to change the church’s heart?

KEY FEATURES

• Encouragement for marginalized people to follow Jesus boldly in transforming the church in America

• Reflections on the power of marginalized people from a pastor and New Testament scholar

• Prophetic analysis of power, systemic injustice, and racism

“Dennis Edwards shows us that it is believers from marginalized groups who have the power to transform American Christianity.” —Jim Wallis, president of Sojourners, editor-in-chief of Sojourners magazine, and author of America’s Original Sin

“A compelling vision forward, grounded in Scripture and God’s delivering presence for those with their ‘backs against the wall.’” —Drew G. I. Hart, assistant professor of theology at Messiah University and author of Who Will Be a Witness? Igniting Activism for God’s Justice, Love, and Deliverance

“Dennis Edwards shows us in wonderful prose and detail that God’s power resides in the marginalized. Highly recommended!” —Michael O. Emerson, professor of sociology at the University of Illinois at Chicago and author of Divided by Faith and Transcending Racial Barriers

“Steeped in hard-earned wisdom and keen biblical insight . . . an urgent and gracious call.” —David W. Swanson, pastor and author of Rediscipling the White Church

“A bold, beautiful, and incisive message for a church that God wants to transform!” —Nijay Gupta, associate professor of New Testament at Portland Seminary

“Might from the Margins lays out a much-needed theological framework that both explores and celebrates the power of marginalized communities.” —Nicole Baker Fulgham, founder and president of The Expectations Project and author of Educating All God’s Children

RELIGION / Christian Life / Social Issues

Dennis R. Edwards is associate professor of New Testament at North Park Theological Seminary and the author of What Is the Bible and How Do We Understand It? in The Jesus Way series and 1 Peter in The Story of God commentary series. A sought-after speaker at conferences and universities and a frequent contributor at Missio Alliance, Edwards has served as a church planter in Brooklyn and Washington, DC, and has worked in urban ministry for nearly three decades. He previously taught New Testament at Northern Seminary. Edwards holds degrees from Cornell University, Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, and Catholic University of America, and is ordained in the Evangelical Covenant Church. He and his wife, Susan Steele Edwards, are the parents of four adult children and two grandchildren.
Sustainable Kitchen
Recipes and Inspiration for Plant-Based, Planet-Conscious Meals
Jaynie McCloskey and Heather Wolfe
Cook more healthfully, eat more sustainably, live more faithfully. We know that daily food choices help or harm our bodies, families, communities, and planet. But it’s not always easy to find resources that enable us to grow, shop for, prepare, cook, and eat food in ways that connect us to our Creator and creation. Dietitian Heather Wolfe and designer Jaynie McCloskey bring years of experience in holistic nutrition, health coaching, homesteading, and scratch cooking to this practical guide for home cooks. Abundant gifts of flavor, nourishment, and community shine through in this handbook for those seeking to prepare plant-based, planet-conscious meals their families will love.

KEY FEATURES
• More than 140 delicious plant-based, planet-conscious recipes: all are vegetarian, with many vegan-friendly options
• Resources for meal planning, preserving food, shopping, and stocking your kitchen
• Tips for decreasing waste, conserving energy, limiting processed foods, and connecting with the Creator
• Rationale for and guidance on implementing a plant-based diet
• Easy instructions for a dozen make-your-own staples

Jaynie McCloskey is a freelance graphic designer with a degree from The Ohio State University. She is a self-taught cook and attributes her guidance to the generous food bloggers who shared their skills, knowledge, and photography. When she’s not planning and preparing meals, McCloskey enjoys exploring Vermont hiking and snowshoeing trails with her husband and two sons.

Heather Wolfe is a registered dietitian nutritionist and certified health coach. Wolfe earned degrees from the University of Vermont and The Dartmouth Institute for Health Policy and Clinical Practice. She has been providing nutritional counseling at Dartmouth-Hitchcock since 2006 and health coaching for their employee wellness program since 2009. Wolfe is a food enthusiast and homesteader who enjoys permaculture gardening, scratch cooking, and raising backyard chickens in Vermont alongside her husband and three daughters.
Making Waves
Fifty Stories about Sharing Love and Changing the World
Judy Clemens

When Jesus says love our enemies, some people take him literally.

What happens when you start to love your enemies and serve others? Read about 50 inspiring people who have chosen to love their enemies and done good to those who harmed them. Filled with true stories from past and present, this captivating book is a showcase of heroes who have stood up for what’s right to make the world a better place.

What would it mean to step between soldiers and someone they are trying to harm? Could you love the person who bullied your friend? Would you rescue the man chasing you across a frozen river because of your beliefs? Would you serve a meal to the people trying to break into your house?

Fifty ordinary people. Fifty extraordinary acts of peace.

KEY FEATURES
• Includes 50 delightfully illustrated, inspiring stories of people who have chosen peace instead of vengeance
• Brings together true stories from the past and present to inspire children
• Highlights peace efforts of people from different Christian traditions around the world
• For children ages 9–12

Judy Clemens wrote the Agatha- and Anthony-nominated Stella Crown series, the Grim Reaper mysteries, and the stand-alone Lost Sons (published by Herald Press). Her YA thriller Tag, You’re Dead, written as J. C. Lane, was also nominated for the Agatha and Anthony awards. She is a past president of Sisters in Crime, a reviewer for the New York Journal of Books, and the mother of two young adults, which helps when writing YA and middle-grade fiction.

David Leonard began his freelance illustration career in the first grade, trading colorings for pencils. He has never stopped drawing. Telling stories through illustration on everything from books to billboards, David Leonard has worked with clients such as Amazon, Random House, Dr. Pepper, Highlights for Children and the New Yorker. When David is not illustrating, he enjoys flying with his loving, forgiving, understanding, and supportive wife and their little, art-directing twin daughters.
The End of Religion
Encountering the Subversive Spirituality of Jesus
[Expanded Edition]

Bruxy Cavey

Sick of religion? So was Jesus.

In this expanded edition of the bestselling The End of Religion, Bruxy Cavey asks: Has Christianity missed the point? Was Jesus setting up a new religion or abolishing the entire concept? Have Christians gotten faith in Jesus pretty much right—or all wrong?

Thoroughly revised and updated, The End of Religion now includes five entirely new chapters by the author, a new preface, and updates throughout. A study guide with questions and links to video content for use in groups is forthcoming in August 2021. Join Bruxy Cavey in a dynamic, breathtaking investigation into what Jesus was all about. Find out how 21st-century people can live into the subversive spirituality of Jesus.

Jesus lived a scandalous life. Shouldn’t we?

Key Features

- Thoroughly revised and updated by author, including the addition of five new chapters
- Companion Bible study guide with discussion and reflection questions and links to video content

“Packed with game-changing insights. This remarkable book is likely to rock your world! With wisdom, clarity, and humor, Bruxy Cavey dismantles the religious conception of Jesus to reveal the life-transforming beauty of the real, anti-religious Jesus. I could not recommend a book more strongly!” —Gregory A. Boyd, senior pastor of Woodland Hills Church and author of Inspired Imperfection

“Bruxy Cavey has offered us a thorough, fascinating, deep, and relevant look at how Jesus has finished old and onerous religious systems. Instead of dead religion, Jesus invites everyone into new and living relationship—characterized by love and freedom, mercy and hope. Everything about this book is infectious and inspiring.” —Danielle Strickland, spiritual entrepreneur and author of Better Together

“When my students tell me that they grew up in churches but never heard about Jesus, they mean that they never heard about this Jesus of the Gospels who irritates the establishment and the religious elites. Enjoy, as I did, all the different angles from which Bruxy Cavey presents this Jesus who got under their skin and who should still get under the skin of some of our religious tendencies.” —Scot McKnight, professor of New Testament at Northern Seminary and author of The Blue Parakeet: Rethinking How You Read the Bible

“Start here! When you’re ready to take the next step in your spiritual journey, read this book. In The End of Religion, Bruxy Cavey introduces us to the greatest nonconformist of history, and helps us see how this one life changes everything for everyone everywhere.” —Andy Stanley, senior pastor of Northpoint Community Church and author of Irresistible
