Annual Report 2022

Love grow change

When I read a Rejoice! devotional that hits the mark so precisely it sends a shiver down my spine.

When I hear how women in one congregation's book club wrote individual letters to a Herald Press author because of the author's impact on their faith. When I see the larger church gathered in worship, singing songs of praise to God from Voices Together.

These examples show why I'm so excited to have been named publisher and executive director at MennoMedia for another four years.

Cultivating faith is the heart of our mission. At MennoMedia, providing resources to help churches, pastors, leaders, and families engage these complex times as people of God and to equip people with resources for going deeper in their Christian faith is core to our success.

"Love Jesus, grow in faith, change the world" is the motto for our Shine children's curriculum, but it also encapsulates where we are headed as an organization. Whether in our Herald Press books, our new initiatives around the 500th anniversary of Anabaptism, or any of our other resources, we want to always point people toward the love of God manifested in Jesus so that we might grow in faith and change the world.

Rejoice! daily devotional turns 50

Celebrating Rejoice! daily devotional

For 50 years, readers have been nurtured through the quarterly devotional magazine Rejoice! Each day's entry features a Bible reading, a short inspirational message, and a prayer of response. The magazine also includes inspirational stories and poems, and daily prayer requests representing Mennonite mission workers, schools, and church agencies.

Founded in 1972 as a partnership between the publishing ministries of the General Conference Mennonite Church, the (old) Mennonite Church, and the Mennonite Brethren, today Rejoice! is published solely by MennoMedia and continues to serve a broad range of Anabaptist readers.

April Yamasaki of Abbotsford, British Columbia, begins as editor this fall as Leslie Hawthorne Klinger wrapped up nine years of service as editor.

John D. Roth, Anabaptism at 500 project director, speaks at the first project meeting in August 2022.

Anabaptism at 500

The year 2025 marks the 500th anniversary of Anabaptism. MennoMedia's vision is to lead the way in helping North American Anabaptist Christians experience spiritual renewal by creating fresh, forward-looking resources to highlight this celebration. The full suite of resources will prompt the church to explore how we want to carry forward a shared, living faith for present and future generations. The project is anchored by the development of the Anabaptist Bible, a first-of-its-kind resource featuring the contributions of 500 or more Anabaptists.
