Love and Loss
The Short Life of Ray Chapman
Scott H. Longest
Ray Chapman lived the American dream as a star baseball player for the Cleveland Indiens until 1920, when he was fatally struck in the head by a fastball. This biography details Chapman’s fairy tale life and how it became an American tragedy.

Fatal Judgment
An Andy Hayes Mystery
Andrew Welsh-Huggins
Judge Laura Porter fiercely guarded her privacy, and never more so than during her long-running, and long in the past—affair with disgraced quarterback-turned-private investigator Andy Hayes. Now she’s missing, disappeared—and never more so than during her long-run-in that points too close to home.

Sick to Death
An Andy Hayes Mystery
Andrew Welsh-Huggins
Starting with a daring art heist and a walloping surprise for private eye Andy Hayes, this riveting mystery novel—the eighth in the series—takes readers on a roller coaster ride through COVID and the anti-vaxxer movement, the streets of Columbus, Ohio, and an FBI investigation that points too close to home.

Africa and the Olympics
Winning Away from the Podium
Todd Cleveland
Rather than measuring Africa’s success at the Olympic Games in terms of sporting triumphs, this book examines how African states, athletes, and officials have utilized the Olympics to engage in transformative political activity, realize social mobility, and enhance the quality of life for individuals, communities, and entire nations.

Available Light
Omar Badsha and the Struggle for Change in South Africa
Daniel Magaziner
This biography of photographer Omar Badsha, who was intimately involved in documenting the struggle against apartheid, is also an intellectual history of protest in South Africa. Drawn from personal archives and interviews, the book conveys an intimate sense of Badsha’s political engagement from the 1950s to today.

Projections of Dakar
(Re)Imagining Urban Senegal through Cinema
Devin Bryson and Molly Krueger Enz
This comprehensive overview of contemporary Senegalese documentary film culture features interviews with contemporary Senegalese filmmakers living and working in Dakar and analyses of the interconnections between cinema, social issues, and urban life in Senegal.

The American Buffalo
The Full Saga of the American Animal
David A. Dary
Originally published in 1989, this book is one of the top references noted in Ken Burns’s documentary film, The American Buffalo. The journals and memoirs of nineteenth-century explorers and travelers in the American West often told of viewing buffalo massed together as far as the eye could see. This book appropriately covers the subject of the buffalo as extensively as that animal covered the plains.

All the Fun’s in How You Say a Thing: An Explanation of Meter and Versification
Timothy Steele
Second Edition
This best-selling guide to meter and versification, now in its twenty-fifth year, features a fresh cover design and a new preface by Timothy Steele, one of our best contemporary practitioners of traditional poetic forms. Perfect for the general reader of poetry, students and teachers of literature, and aspiring poets.

Winning Away from the Podium
Todd Cleveland
Rather than measuring Africa’s success at the Olympic Games in terms of sporting triumphs, this book examines how African states, athletes, and officials have utilized the Olympics to engage in transformative political activity, realize social mobility, and enhance the quality of life for individuals, communities, and entire nations.
Malaria in the Move

Rural Communities and Public Health in Zimbabwe, 1890–2015
Kudai Manamure

Malaria in the Move provides a historical analysis of malaria control in Rhodesia and indepen dent Zimbabwe from the late nineteenth centu ry to 2015. The book examines how migration and travel influenced the risk of malaria and reaffirms the need to take into consideration local socio-economic factors in designing and implementing interventions.

New African Histories

Perspectives on Global Health

The Morality of Revolution

Benedicto Luís Machava

This book foregrounds the contradictions between Fretilin’s socialist ambitions and the reality of its carceral regimen. Rather than re habilitative institutions, the party’s camps were spurs to extra-legal violence where detainees suffered at the hands of overseers and endured wretched conditions in remote rural sites.

New African Histories

War and Militarism in African History

The Brontës and the Fairy Tale

Jessica Campbell

This is the first comprehensive study devoted to the role of fairy tales and folklore in the work of the Brontë family of writers: Charlotte, Emily, Anne, and Branwell. It engages with and extends the contemporary critical discourse on genre, literary realism, the history of the fairy tale, national identity, and the position of women in the Victorian period.

New African Histories

Society, Power, and Land in Northeastern Zimbabwe Between Local and Global Admire Mseba

This book details a long and neglected history of struggles over land and power and their en tanglement with colonial policies in Zimbabwe. It centers land in precolonial political relations and recasts questions of land to incorporate both the inequities rooted in older forms of social difference, including kinship and gender, and those caused by the interventions of the colonial state.

New African Histories

Sense and Uncertainty
A Phenomenology of Rational Actions in an Uncertain World
Esteban Marín-Ávila

Drawing primarily on the phenomenological work of Edmund Husserl and Luis Villoro, Sense and Uncertainty explores the possibility and conditions of rational, practical agency in our non-ideal world, characterized by forms of irrationality, violence, and oppression.

New African Histories

US & Canada Distribution
Chicago Distribution Center
press.uchicago.edu/cdc

Overseas Distribution
Combined Academic Publishers
combinedacademic.co.uk

Ordering Questions
Jeff Kallet
kallet@ohio.edu

US Sales Representatives
reps@ohio.edu

virus research in twentieth-century uganda

Focus Cumminskey

This case study contextualizes calls to decolonize global health within a long history of negotiations between scientists based in Uganda, the United States, and Europe over what research should be done, by whom, and where. The book covers colonial Uganda through the first years of Yoweri Museveni’s presidency.

New African Histories

Perspectives on Global Health

Corruption, Class, and Politics in Ghana
Ernest Harsch

Using Ghana as a case study, this book chal lenges the international discourse on corruption and demonstrates that contemporary oppo site to it dates as far back as the precolo nial era. That perspective counters negative stereotypes of African societies as complacent and demonstrates that African actors—including or dinary citizens—have long been engaged in anticorruption struggles.

New African Histories

Research in International Studies, Africa Series

Malaria on the Move

Rural Communities and Public Health in Zimbabwe, 1890–2015
Kudai Manamure

Malaria in the Move provides a historical analysis of malaria control in Rhodesia and indepen dent Zimbabwe from the late nineteenth centu ry to 2015. The book examines how migration and travel influenced the risk of malaria and reaffirms the need to take into consideration local socio-economic factors in designing and implementing interventions.

New African Histories

Perspectives on Global Health

Ugama’s Army

The Creation and Evolution of the Tanzania People’s Defence Force, 1964–1979
Charles G. Thomas

This first scholarly study of the Tanzania Peo ple’s Defence Force is a critical text in the story of Cold War international support for African liberation movements and armed liberation fronts. The military reflected the national project of a newly independent Tanzania and became a stable and effective force in supporting liberation struggles across southern Africa.

New African Histories

War and Militarism in African History

Jessica Campbell

This is the first comprehensive study devoted to the role of fairy tales and folklore in the work of the Brontë family of writers: Charlotte, Emily, Anne, and Branwell. It engages with and extends the contemporary critical discourse on genre, literary realism, the history of the fairy tale, national identity, and the position of women in the Victorian period.

New African Histories

Sense and Uncertainty
A Phenomenology of Rational Actions in an Uncertain World
Esteban Marín-Ávila

Drawing primarily on the phenomenological work of Edmund Husserl and Luis Villoro, Sense and Uncertainty explores the possibility and conditions of rational, practical agency in our non-ideal world, characterized by forms of irrationality, violence, and oppression.

New African Histories

US & Canada Distribution
Chicago Distribution Center
press.uchicago.edu/cdc

Overseas Distribution
Combined Academic Publishers
combinedacademic.co.uk

Ordering Questions
Jeff Kallet
kallet@ohio.edu

US Sales Representatives
reps@ohio.edu

virus research in twentieth-century uganda

Focus Cumminskey

This case study contextualizes calls to decolonize global health within a long history of negotiations between scientists based in Uganda, the United States, and Europe over what research should be done, by whom, and where. The book covers colonial Uganda through the first years of Yoweri Museveni’s presidency.