

Our Books

Can I get a discount on a UNC Press book?

We're happy to offer 40% off on our website and free shipping on orders totalling over $75. Simply enter promo code 01DAH40 at checkout.

What's the best way to get news about UNC Press publications?

Follow UNC Press on Twitter, Facebook, and/or Instagram! We post regularly on all three platforms. If you are interested in topics related to social justice, we also have a Twitter account specifically for our Justice, Power, and Politics book series.

Visit or subscribe to our blog to read updates from us as well as Q&As and guest posts from our authors.

Sign up for our enews to receive occasional newsletters and announcements. You can elect to receive communication based on your preferred subject areas.

Sign up for our Justice, Power, and Politics newsletter to get updates on the JPP book series.

Do you have any books about [X subject matter]?

On the Books page on our website, you can browse by category, series, view books published in partnership with other UNC System institutions, or simply use our search bar to help locate what you need.

You can also check out one of our latest subject area brochures.

Publishing a Book

I'm working on a manuscript. What sort of books are you looking for?

Almost all the information a prospective author could need is available on our website. Visit our For Prospective Authors page to see our areas of interest and read details about the proposal submission and manuscript review process. There is also a brief annotated bibliography of useful sources for authors transforming a dissertation into a book manuscript.

Which acquisitions editor should I query about my book proposal?

Visit the Meet Our Editorial Staff page on our website and click through to view bios for each member of our acquisitions team. You will see subject areas in which these editors acquire, the series they manage, and contact information. Please review the For Prospective Authors page before making initial contact.

For Educators

What resources do you have available for course adoption?

Visit the For Educators page on our website to learn more.

How do I request an exam or desk copy of a UNC Press book?

View our Examination Copy Policy or Desk Copy Policy page to learn more and to fill out a request form.

I or my student needs an accessible version of a UNC Press text. What should I do?

We're always happy to help in providing accessible versions of our books. For more information, visit Titles for Readers with Disabilities on our website. This page includes a link to email us when you're ready to make a request.

For Media and Event Coordinators

What books do you have in the pipeline?

Every seasonal catalog is made available on our website a few months in advance of the start of the season.

How do I get in touch with the publicity team to request a review copy or to set up an author interview or event?

See our Publicity Contacts and use the e-mail link to get in touch.

Working with UNC Press

I'm interested in pursuing full-time/freelance/internship work at UNC Press. Whom should I contact?

We post open positions on our Employment page as well as on the AUPresses Jobs List.

If you don't see any openings but are seeking full-time, freelance, or internship work, there are instructions on the Employment page for sending in application materials.